

Resource Augmentation and Litigation Support

Practice Area Profile

When you need help solving an issue or problem of concern, turn to CostQuest.

The New Dynamics

In an increasingly specialized and dynamic marketplace, companies are finding that outside resources can be an efficient and cost effective alternative to hiring permanent or temporary specialists themselves.

Sometimes, a particular resource demand spikes and lasts for only a short time. Other times, your resource requirements fall outside your core competencies or in an area where outside resources can provide a more effective and efficient solution.

If your need is for training, expert testimony, regulatory strategy, cost/price/profit analysis, or the development of specialized models and applications, CostQuest can provide experienced professionals to help.

We excel at working in complex, fluid situations that are critical to a business's success. Our associates have the expertise, maturity, detail orientation, and experience necessary to deliver the solution you need in the time required and budget set.

Our Expertise Areas

CostQuest staff have professional experience and academic credentials in economics, statistics, accounting, engineering, spatial design and programming, cost analysis, pricing analysis, geographic information systems, system analysis and design, application development, maintenance and support,
